

Ingles Homes judged a project winner

GOLD Coast Ingles Homes is celebrating after winning three Housing Industry Association awards at the regional judging in Rockhampton.

The privately owned home builder won the awards for the best project home up to $300,000, the best project home over $300,000.

The company also was honoured with the project home of the year title for its Jordana design, a two-storey, four-bedroom home.

The latest awards cap an amazing run of wins for Ingles Homes.

This year the company has also won six Housing Industry Association awards on the Gold Coast region, two Queensland Master Builders Association awards on the Gold Coast and another QMBA award on the Sunshine Coast.

Ingles Group managing director Graeme Ingles said he could not be prouder of his team.

"Ingles Homes is only as good as the people and the suppliers who work in our team and we are privileged to have so many talented individual working with us," he said.

"To have won three QMBA awards and nine HIA awards within two months is an incredible achievement and is testimony to the expertises and skills of our team."

Ingles Homes has more than 40 designs on offer but the Jordana has proven to be a real award winner.
